THE FUNERAL SERVICES.

THE FUNERAL BENYICES.

The religious services at the residence were exceedingly simple. The bouse was filled with sorrowing friends, and the yard and sidewalk in front also crowded with gentlemen. There probably never was so large and representative an attendance at a funeral in Wheeling before. Many of the State officials, the Council, Board of Education, city officers, indees of the court, and scores of prominent citizens, not only of the city, but of everal neighboring forms, were scores of prominent citizens, not only of the city, out of several neighboring towns, were among those present. Rev. R. R. Swope read an appropriate passage of scripture, and dress befitting the occasion, and led in prayer. The body, in a rich but neat casket, was then borne to the hearse, the pall bearers being Capit. R. T. Devries, shate Treasurer O'Brien, Sheriff Brown, Messrs. J. M Todd, James Maxwell, B. M. Eoft, C. H. Collier and J. G. Hoffman, sr. The interment was private.

Six-in your paper of Tuesday there appeared a local article in reference to the proposed change in the time of the Elm Grove atrect railway. In some material respects the statements contained in the publication are at variance with the facts. Mr. Woods made no proposition, offer or request that the company should change the location of its line. On the contrary, the negotiations that were had, were the result of repeated and persistent solicitations on the part of the company. After numerous interviews, during which various terms and conditions were discussed, a memorandum in writing was made, which the company refused to accept. They insisted that the proposed agreement aboutd be altered in a certain respect, which alteration, if made, would give them greater privileges and do far more damage to the "The Glide" danced last evening at Franz heim's Hall. same drama last winter.

The Cleveland & Pittsburgh trains were delayed yesterday by a slip at Alakanna. The place of the regular Martin's Ferry accommodation, leaving here at nine o clock, was supplied by a freight caboose. ADVERTIBE

The boys on Gravel Hill probably have their natural aptitude for throwing stones increased by the millions of pebbles around them. They frequently throw down at passing trains, and Tuesday night made havoc with a passenger train. A stone even lightly tossed at a moving train is a dangerous thing, and some one may yet be seriously jojured. Arrests will most certainly lead to severe punishment.
